

COLLINS'S TESTIMONY ON RELIGION CAUSES STORMY SESSION AT SOCIALIST HEARING

"Ninety-nine Percent of Socialists Are Atheists and Agnostics" is Statement Attributed to Morris Hillquit—Collins Says One of Party's Aims is to Abolish Family Life.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Feb. 4.—The question of religious beliefs and disbelief was injected today into the hearing of charges against the five suspended Socialist members of the New York assembly and their introduction provided one of the most stormy sessions yet held.

Peter W. Collins, of Boston, a Knights of Columbus organizer and anti-Socialist, testified as an expert of Socialism that "Socialism is the exact antithesis of all religion," and that Socialists were opposed, as a party, to family life.

"I have found universally among Socialists," testified Collins, "very bitter antagonism to families and family life. I have heard hundreds of Socialist speakers and leaders declare that family life is simply the instrument of capitalism, that it was formed for the purpose of keeping the workers in a state of degradation for the purpose of exploitation. They said when the Socialists got in control family life would disappear."

A statement attributed by Collins to Morris Hillquit got into the record over the vigorous objections of the Socialist counsel. It was as follows: "It is true that 99 per cent of Socialists are atheists and agnostics, but it would be unwise to acknowledge that fact in our party platform because of its effect on the recruiting of followers."

Stedman in vain appealed to the chairman of the committee for the exclusion of much of Collins's testimony.

"A man's religion is his own private affair," declared Stedman. "Whether it be Catholicism, Protestantism or Confucianism. It is sought to prejudice the case of the five Socialist assemblymen by the injection of religion which appeals to the baser part of human nature," Stedman said.

Just before the noon recess Assemblyman Block, Democrat, New York, a member of the committee hearing the charges, made a motion to strike from the record the testimony of Ellen R. Chivers, the 18-year-old Brooklyn stenographer, who testified that Assemblyman Solomon had taken the American flag in the presence of a crowd of persons and 15 soldiers in uniform. Block's motion stated that story was "absurd and the girl was obviously romancing and that it was 'miraculous' that Solomon was alive today if the incident really occurred."

Chairman Martin denied the motion.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 4.—The much talked of "revolt" against Speaker Thaddeus Sweet and the conduct of the ouster proceedings against the five Socialist assemblymen, has died a natural death, it appeared here today when the trial was resumed before the house judiciary committee. None of the Republicans, who at various times have been reported heading such a movement—including Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt—could be found who would say that such proceedings were impending. There is an apparent desire to let the ouster run its course and the question of seating or unseating the five Socialists come to a vote on the floor.

It is freely predicted that the judiciary committee, composed of ten Republicans and three Democrats, all of whom are lawyers, will report unfavorably on seating the ousted assemblymen, and that the assembly as a whole will support the committee. These predictions increased today as a result of direct testimony against the Socialists—that Assemblyman Charles Solomon was seen to spit on the American flag, and that Assemblyman Louis Waldman publicly used his constituents not to support the ouster during the war.

Corroborative testimony to support that evidence is expected today from a Mrs. O'Neill of Brooklyn, one of the Socialists planned to call to the stand Peter W. Collins, Knight of Columbus official and lawyer against Socialism, for cross-examination on his previous testimony that "the term Socialism and Socialism are synonymous and interchangeable."

A monthly argument ensued before opposing counsel at the opening of the hearing today over the admission of testimony of John E. Harris, a former reporter on the Milwaukee Leader, which is owned by Victor Berger. Harris is now employed by the Milwaukee Journal.

John E. Stanchfield, leading counsel for the state, said he expected to have Harris testify that Louis Waldman, one of the suspended Socialists, declared on the floor of the Socialist convention in Chicago, September 3, 1919:

"If I knew we could sway the boys who they get guns in their hands against the capitalists, I would favor universal military training."

It was finally decided to take Harris's testimony by deposition.

Peter W. Collins, the Knights of Columbus organizer and lecturer against Socialism, was recalled to the stand.

Seymour Stedman, counsel for the Socialists, severely attacked Collins's testimony as calculated to appeal to the religious prejudices of the Socialists.

"They are appealing to religious prejudice and trying to inject Catholicism into this hearing," declared Stedman. "These assemblymen are not here for their religious beliefs. Collins said he had often heard Hillquit make the construction of the Socialists as 'an atheistic society' of men."

Edward Wimble and Miss Clara Bryan, both of Albany avenue, were quietly married on February 2, by the Rev. John T. Mathews of the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church. They will reside on Jansen avenue. Both are popular young folks and have the well wishes of a host of friends.

St. Mary's Formal Dance.

The formal dance given at St. Mary's Hall by the young ladies of St. Mary's parish Tuesday evening was a most delightful function, over two hundred couples being in attendance. The decorations were magnificent and the gowns worn by the young ladies were elaborate. The punch booth and the orchestra stand were very artistic in their decorations. Curt Shurtz's orchestra of six instrumentalists in full dress rendered the dance program of the latest selected numbers so delightfully that scores were the order after the rendition of each number. During the intermissions Tommy Dolan, who was in excellent voice, sang popular songs and ballads and Mrs. Sam Mann rendered charmingly a vocal solo. The function will be long a delightful remembrance by those who participated.

Lowell Club.

The Lowell Club met this week at the home of Mrs. James H. Everett on Maiden Lane. During the business session it was voted to contribute $5 toward the purchase of materials for the making of quilts, which is being carried on under the supervision of Mrs. Hayes for the Home for the Aged. The subject of study for next year was decided upon and will be "Modern English Literature and Book Review." The afternoon's topic was "Historical Writers," the roll call being "History in the Making." Mrs. Myron Teller had the paper for the day, an able presentation of the subject, "Life and Works of Francis Parkman." This was followed by a sketch, "The Story of the Conquest of Peru," written by Miss Martha Fuller, in whose enforced absence from the meeting it was read by Mrs. Delaplaine. The last paper for the day was a review, "Culmination of the Dutch Struggle for Independence," given by Mrs. Oscar Edwards. Next week the club members will be the guests of the program committee, Mrs. Wesley D. Hale, Mrs. Arthur Cole, Mrs. Rose Witter and Mrs. Herbert Carl, at the home of Mrs. Schoonmaker on Washington avenue.

GRIFFITHS QUILTS FEED BUSINESS

After Forty Years in Wholesale Flour and Feed Business the Well Known Hasbrouck Avenue Concern Closed Its Doors Today—John W. Griffiths to Open Office.

After forty years in active commercial life downtown, the wholesale flour and feed business of F. H. Griffiths at No. 13 Hasbrouck avenue closed its doors today and John W. Griffiths, a son of the founder of the old established business, and who for the past fifteen years has successfully managed it, will open an office in the Griffiths building on Hasbrouck avenue, opposite the present location.

The Hasbrouck avenue wholesale flour and feed business was established over forty years ago by Robert R. Kerr and later was taken over by F. H. Griffiths and George A. Kerr. A few years later when Mr. Kerr retired from the firm Mr. Griffiths continued the business and grew to be one of the largest of its kind in the city.

After many years Mrs. Griffiths began to gradually relax the reins of business and placed them in the hands of her son, John W. Griffiths, who has had charge of the business since 1905.

The large building in which the business was conducted adjoining the freight office of the Ulster & Delaware railroad on Hasbrouck avenue, and is owned by Mrs. John N. Cordis.

Members who have earned money for the missionary fund will bring in the amount, and will tell how the money was earned.

Next Sunday the pastor, Rev. A. S. Cole, will preach at both services. The morning sermon will be on "The Continuation of David's Line." The monthly lecture will be given at the evening service on the topic, "What is Christianity?"

WILL SELL NAVY BLANKETS HERE

At Same Fire Houses Where Army Food Was Sold—Price To Be About Half What Retailers Charge—New and All Wool.

The city will have one thousand navy blankets on sale within a few days. The blankets are on their way and are expected within a week. These blankets are of U. S. Navy type, all wool, blue and gray, 60x84 inches and weigh between 4½ and 5½ pounds each. They are all new and represented to be in perfect condition, each one having been inspected and accepted by the government. These blankets will be on sale at the three fire stations where the food sales were had, being the Wilkes Hose House on Fair street, the Central Fire Station on East O'Reilly street and the Central Hose House on Abel street. Any not sold after ten days will be returned. The blankets are sent on consignment and come from the government warehouse at Brooklyn. As freight must be paid on the blankets, it is necessary to add to the government selling price. As soon as the freight is ascertained the price at which the blankets will be sold to Kingstonians will be announced. It is stated that the price is about one-half the retail price on similar blankets.

Mayor Canfield made every effort last fall to obtain army blankets, but the government finally decided not to sell any. Kingston was put on the list of those desiring blankets and this is the first opportunity to obtain them.

$420,000 MORE IS NEEDED FOR RONDOUT CREEK BRIDGE

So Commissioner Greene Tells Senator Walton and Assemblyman Van Wageningen Who Introduced the Bill Today Making the Appropriation—Total Cost of Bridge to be $720,000.

In accordance with a letter received by Senator Walton and Assemblyman Van Wageningen from State Highway Commissioner Frederick Stuart Greene, stating that $420,000 in addition to the amount now available would be required for the completion of the Rondout creek bridge, bills appropriating this amount were introduced today by Ulster county's representatives in the Senate and Assembly.

According to Commissioner Greene's estimate the total cost of completing the bridge will be $720,000, of which $640,000 will be for the bridge itself and $80,000 for the approaches.

For this work there is now available $161,000 proceeds of the last bond issue, credited to Ulster county, and $139,000 appropriated by Senator Walton's bill which was passed two years ago, a total of $300,000, leaving $420,000 still to be provided.

A more detailed explanation will be found in the report of Commissioner Greene's speech at the Rotary Club luncheon in Kingston today, which appears in another column of The Freeman.

Senator Walton believes there is a strong chance of securing the appropriation.

Objectors to Meet Tonight.

A mass meeting of the taxpayers of the Eleventh and Twelfth wards will be held at the court house this evening for the purpose of discussing the proposed removal of the Colonial trolley tracks from Washington avenue. The meeting was called by Abraham Martin of the Twelfth ward and Alderman Myers of the Eleventh ward. Both wards are directly interested in the proposed removal of the tracks, as it is people from these two wards who are the principal users of the road. However the meeting is not limited to the taxpayers from these two wards, but any one from the city who has a view on the matter should come and be heard. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock.

Tonight will be a big night at St. Peter's hall for the Colonial Basketball League when the Central and the Knickerbocker will play. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

BREAD PRICES TO ADVANCE

Supply Of Cheap Flour Will Soon Be Exhausted By City Bakers—To Be No Producing, They Say.

The price of bread in this city will take a jump in about a week's time. City bakers point to the fact that the supply of cheap flour which they have had on hand will soon be exhausted and they will be forced to go into the market for more flour. The advance in flour, together with the rising increase in overhead expenses, will necessitate a raise in bread, they state.

The bakers, however, wish to make it clear that it is not their intention to practice profiteering. They state that they will only increase their prices in proportion to the advance in the cost of production. They had hoped that it would not be necessary to make an advance in the price of bread, but with the way all materials are increasing, they say it is impossible for them to take any other course, and they point out that the expected raise should not be considered the last. If flour and other materials advance as they have been, they must raise their prices accordingly.

MANY CASES OF FLU, NO DEATHS

The Flu Started To Spread In Kingston Second Week In January, and to Date There Have Been 287 Cases Reported—No Occasion for Alarm as Cases are Mild.

Twenty-two new cases of flu were reported to the board of health this morning bringing the total number reported in Kingston since the outbreak started the second week in January to 287. There have also been thirteen pneumonia cases reported within that length of time. Since the outbreak there have been no deaths reported in Kingston from either the flu or pneumonia, and the epidemic seems to be of a mild nature.

The Red Cross has offered the board of health the services of two nurses and with the aid of the city nurse they will do hourly nursing in necessary cases. Doctors having these cases in charge should report to the health board, and nurses will be supplied as far as possible.

With so much flu in the city some folks have become needlessly alarmed, when it is considered that of the nearly three hundred cases reported not one has so far resulted fatally.

In the epidemic of 1918, 10,000 cases were reported in Kingston, and the death toll numbered over 200.

Don't be tied to a Furnace

A Boynton Square Pot Furnace only needs a few moments of your time each day. Fuel is completely consumed without waste—free from gas and with little ash. It is remarkably clean and economical of fuel.

The square firepot is found only in the Boynton and it is the feature that saves money. When ashes and clinkers line the edge of your fire, there is a loss, for the heat from the center must work its way through to the radiating surface.

The Boynton Square Pot has almost perpendicular sides, corrugated surface and square corners. Ashes drop perfectly around the outside, with little assistance from the extra long grate bars. A good fire and perfect draft make temperature regulation simple.

ANIMALS WANT VARIED FOOD

Because of the increasing calls for information about rations for farm animals the College of Agriculture at Cornell University has found it necessary to reprint Professor Savage's bulletin "Comparing Rations for Farm Animals."

This publication discusses the food needs of the animal and then shows what demands the animal makes on this food; some goes to maintain the tissues and some to furnish energy.

The author then indicates what substances are needed to supply the right food, and says that there are seven points which must be kept in mind in getting an ideal ration. These are: The quantity of dry matter; the digestibility of the ration; the proportion of nutritive substances; variety in the ration; the suitability of the feeds to the animal's digestive tract, the palatability of the ration; and finally, its cost.

The author points out that animals like a variety in their food, and that their appetites are stimulated by it; for that reason the ration should contain several kinds of feed. The bulk of the publication is made up of tables which show the composition of various feeds in respect to these seven points. Any person who can make good use of this publication may secure a copy of it by addressing the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, asking for F 117.

The farmer's money profit is not the only dividend that he draws from his life in the country.

With spring almost here, machinery for the spring work is already seen in some fields; it was left there last fall.

It will take a mighty good hen to be proud of herself when she hears of the biddy that laid 263 eggs in twelve months.

Get the measure on the fields before the warm spring rains. If you don't, it will lose much of its fertilizer value.

A man who had a fine field of alfalfa on his farm posted this sign: "Lime, phosphate, conservation of moisture and inoculation got this alfalfa. Think it over."

Testing seed is taking out crop insurance. A bulletin which the State College at Ithaca, N. Y., will send you shows how simple it is. Ask for E 26. A postal is as good as a letter.

The farm library goes with the farm office. The bulletins from your experiment stations and state college ought to be handy to the desk where you keep your papers and accounts.

Proper housing, proper sanitation, air and sunlight, proper conveniences are absolutely essential to maximum results in city factories. The farmer's barn is his factory; his animals, his workers.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, Feb. 3.—The weekly prayer meeting will be omitted on account of the large number of people who are ill. New cases are Mrs. Alexander Smith, Mrs. Amy Sholey, Mrs. Ralsey Mott and little daughter, Norma. These are all improving. George Hummel is also convalescing. So far there have been thirty cases of influenza and two of pneumonia.

Supervisor John H. Beaver recently received word of the death of Robert Gillies of Medina, N. Y. Mr. Gillies was a former resident of Esopus and conducted the cooperative business now owned and operated by Mr. Beaver. He died very suddenly at his home on January 10.

The change to more moderate weather is very acceptable as the thermometer at twenty degrees below zero soon becomes monotonous. Friends of Alfred Terpening will be pleased to know that he has been able to go about this winter. Until a few days past he has been unable to walk very much on account of lameness in one of his knees.

John J. House completed his task of census taking last week. He has made a very thorough canvass and has had very severe weather to contend with.

KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 4, 1920.

Of 237,000 immigrants coming through our ports last year only two said they had left the old country on account of religious persecution. Religious intolerance has subsided, but there is still disposition a-plenty to drive others in politics.

Notwithstanding the Socialist legislation that has been offered to the people by the Democratic party Socialists are not saying a single kind word in favor of a Tammany Democracy. Apparently the Socialists have had some dealings with the Democrats or are mad because the Democrats would steal their thunder.

The greatest fear that Tammany Hall and the Democratic party have is that the farmer will have something to say about the price of milk and farm products. Tammany's mad desire to get control of the agricultural department is the best evidence of how Tammany would do the farmer.

A British antarctic expedition is to leave in June with a view to locating mineral and other deposits of economic value reported to exist among the South-Pole snows. If the hardy British adventurers find any such wealth they will have a right to it. The same opportunity to go and look for it has long been open to other nations.

It is no longer a distinction to be an American millionaire. New York city alone has 1,084 of them and the State of Pennsylvania has 707. In order to receive notice how it is necessary to get into the smaller circle of multi-millionaires. It would be interesting to know if we as yet have any billionaires. If we have, it is likely that they are in no hurry to stand up to be counted.

Governor Smith is saying that he does not believe two years long enough as a term for a governor. He probably sees the writing on the wall and is speaking from the heart. Two years will be long enough for him if the signs of the times can be read aright and judging from the speech of the people. He has been harping on this thought and it would appear as if it were close to his heart.

The House of Representatives has been informed by one of its members that "if the $22,000,000,000 that the war cost the United States were counted in silver dollars it would take a man counting 72 minutes working 8 hours a day 1,744 years to count them; if the silver dollars were laid side by side they would stretch 520,833 miles; their weight would be $87,500 short tons, and loaded in box cars of forty tons capacity they would make a train of 17,187 cars 120 miles in length. This may have a certain interest to statisticians, but the time spent on all that figuring might have been better contributed toward constructive legislation.

A LESSON IN AN ATOM.

The scientific theory of atoms and electrons, supposed to be established beyond question, carries a lesson for the man who refuses to see beyond his nose or is unwilling to believe anything beyond the perception of his gross bodily senses. A single atom is invisible. Only about a hundred million of them together can be seen under the best microscope. An atom is so small that about fifty million of them justle each other in a single drop of water. Yet every atom is a universe in itself, being filled with rapidly circulating electrons, which to the atom are as grains of wheat compared with the big barn containing them. "The only thing smaller than an electron," facetiously remarks one editor, "is a parter Belshazzar's soul."

But who can say that the electron is not also divisible or formed of myriad component parts? Why may not an electron also reveal a universe within itself when we develop its powers? This question is being asked by some of the scientists of today. If there are sound such wonders and complexities the deeper we dive into nature itself, the more we examine nature's very minutest parts, can there be any limit to the possibilities of spirit above the realm of matter? In the universe of an atom there is involved no less of the marvelous or the miraculous than in the concept of a spiritual realm in harmony with the needs and developed powers of the risen souls of the so-called dead.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

Hardly Flattering.

They were still out in the conservatory, and Tom had just asked Sally to marry him. She had said, "I don't care if I do," and thus they were engaged. "Tom, dear," she began, "am I the only girl?" "Now, look here, Sally," he interrupted, "don't ask me if you are the only girl I ever loved. You know as well as I do."

The Opening.
Apropos of John D. Rockefeller's recent gift of $10,000,000 to the Rockefeller Institute—his gifts to the Institute now aggregate $25,000,000—Americo Bolino, the Argentine representative at the International Labor Conference in Washington, said the other day.

"The Rockefeller Institute makes surgical operations safer and safer. Nevertheless most of us continue to regard them with awe and terror. 'Yes, we are most of us like the deacon who was about to have his appendix removed. 'Send for a minister first,' the deacon said, as they were disrobing him for the operation. 'Oh,' said the surgeon, 'that's hardly necessary. The operation isn't so serious as all that.' 'Send for a minister,' said the deacon, firmly. 'If I'm to be opened, I'll be opened with prayer.'"

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK

Topic of Rev. Cranston's Talk to Wurts Street Classes.

Tuesday evening the Philathea and Baraca classes of the Wurts Street Baptist Church held their regular monthly business meeting in the Sunday school chapel. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed. Dr. A. K. Fuller, pastor of the church invited Rev. Dr. Cranston of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church to come down and give the members of the classes a short address. He chose for his topic, "The Successful Sunday School. How to Obtain It and Retain It." Dr. Cranston was listened to with great interest. His remarks and advice on how to get results in Sunday school work were greatly appreciated. During the evening Richard Dawe sang some old time songs which were greatly enjoyed by those present. After the program, ice cream, coffee and cake were served.

Asks For Eight Cent Fare.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 4.—The Poughkeepsie and Wappingers Falls Railway Company Tuesday made application to the Public Service Commission, Second district, for authority to charge an eight cent fare in Poughkeepsie and Wappingers Falls, with-out change in present transfer privileges, and to charge eight cents in each zone of the railway between Poughkeepsie and Wappingers Falls. The company also wants to sell a strip of seven eight-cent tickets for 50 cents and to make changes in its rates for school and monthly commutation tickets and chartered cars.

Work has been ordered started early in the spring. No bids were received for building the Rosendale village road.

TAKES ISSUE WITH DR. CHASE

Editor of The Freeman:
Dear Sir.—Will you kindly find space for this in your paper?

Writing in regard to the article Mr. Chase had published in your valuable paper last evening, might I ask to what Mr. Chase alludes as a square deal for the trolley company? Goodness knows that if they get any more square deals they might all retire with a sigh of contentment and think for the rest of their days what a jolly good crowd the citizens of Kingston are.

Has Mr. Chase ever ridden in a car, or rather on the cold platform of one, that has taken about a good round hour to travel from Connelly's drug store on lower Broadway to the R-G-R store on North Front street? Perhaps not.

Does Mr. Chase consider the factory, department store, office and various other employed folks who gnash their teeth daily, week in and week out, because of the inefficient service rendered to the public, probably not.

What about the people, who, after the stores have closed and the theatres have emptied their crowds on a Saturday night, must ride in uncomfortable cars or having waited an eternity for a car, decide that the only possible means of getting home lies in walking?

What about the lectures and the Community Sings that take place at the high school? Perhaps several hundred people congregate and at the close of the meeting they desire to get home. Perhaps a car awaits the throng, more frequently one does not. Is one car enough for the people who stand patiently waiting? Well, possibly once in a while the company may send another car, but it is very seldom that such a miracle takes place.

Therefore, in all fairness, I think that the time has come wherein the trolley company might hand down to the public a square deal by increasing its efficiency and by extending a belt line through various parts of the city.

Respectfully yours,
"AN OBJECTOR."

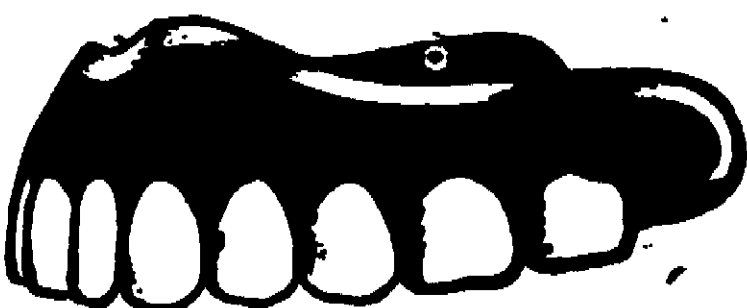

Wherein They Differ

The preservation of the human dead was practiced by the Egyptians near the end of the first century B. C. They used three methods, one of which cost a silver talent, or about $1,200. The early Christians also practiced embalming to some extent in Egypt, but modern embalming was first practiced successfully at the beginning of the eighteenth century by Dr. Frederick Eysch.

The Egyptians regarded the preservation of the human dead as a religious duty. They believed that it was necessary to preserve the body for the return of the soul to the human form after it had completed its cycle of existence. Consequently they prepared the bodies to last from 3,000 to 10,000 years.

Today, sanitation is the principal reason for embalming. It is an absolute preventative of the communication of disease infection. Restoration of color and form, an art unknown to the ancients, is another reason.

William C. Kukuk, who conducts The Funeral Home at No. 67 Tremper avenue, is a thoroughly trained sanitarian, a student of anatomy and chemistry. It is possible for him to preserve a body indefinitely, yet in his work he uses none of the crude and barbarous methods of the Egyptians.

EXTENSION SCHOOL
PROGRAM PLANNED

County Agent E. L. Chase Arranges
With State College to Send Instructors to Walkhill Milking Machine School.

County Agent E. L. Chase announced today that he had arranged with the state college of agriculture at Ithaca to co-operate with the Ulster County Farm Bureau Association in a milking machine school to be held in Grange Hall at Walkhill from February 16 to 18 inclusive. While these sessions, which are proving popular wherever held, are called "schools," by no means is the practical farmer to think they are not for him. The emphasis most decidedly is placed on the practical and not the theoretical side of milking machines, says County Agent Chase.

The farm bureau association feels it is fortunate in being able to arrange with the college for this school and hopes the farmers of this section will realize that here is a real opportunity for them to get expert help with their problems. The county agent gives assurance that the instructors whom the college will send of actual farm experience. They are not merely fine theorists but men J. D. Brew and A. M. Goodman.

11-12 a. m. An economical ice house for the dairy farmer, A. M. Goodman.
1-2:30 p. m. Demonstration of practical methods of cleaning milking machines. Discussion of disinfecting solutions. Discussion of the results of the bacteria counts, J. D. Brew.
2:30-4 p. m. Demonstration: Valve grinding, carbon removing, fitting piston rings, adjustment of bearings, A. M. Goodman.

New Theory as to Cancer.

A well-known medical authority has advanced the theory that false teeth are often the cause of cancer. Where a set of teeth fits imperfectly, the constant abrasion on the gums causes, at first, the development of an area of congested tissue. In time this formation degenerates into an ulcerated state, which, although innocent enough in the beginning, may soon exhibit a rapid malignant transformation. The changes from a healthy structure of the gums to that of cancer moves on so insidiously in the early stages that frequently the condition, when recognized, is difficult to combat.

Charles E. Smith

Charles Edward Smith of Oakland, Cal., formerly a lieutenant in the British Royal Air Force, has announced his intention of attempting a flight across the Pacific Ocean. Smith plans to use a hydroplane similar to that used by Commander Read, the NC-4, in the long flight over the Atlantic. Preparations are under way for the proposed flight, no definite date being set for the attempt. Lieut. Smith is credited with having downed four enemy planes during the war.

Small Buildings in Great City.

An interesting account of surviving city houses, built after the great fire of London, is given by Walter Bell, an acknowledged authority on the subject. Three dwarf houses in Cheapside, sheltered by the famous plane tree at the Wood street corner, are known to everyone. Each consists of two rooms only—a shop, the size of a box, below, and a room above. They have stood there more than 230 years, having been built in 1687. They owe their place on so important a frontage as Cheapside to the extreme shallowness of the site.

Fishing From the Skies.

As we all know, aviators when flying over the sea in fine weather can see a long way down into the water, a fact which was made full use of in the course of submarine hunting. From an airplane shoals of fish can be observed, when their presence is unnoticeable from the surface, and the suggestion is that trained observers should be employed on the principal fishery grounds to signal the presence and whereabouts of these shoals to the waiting trawlers below.

Pleasures of Science.

"I recently heard two scientists wrangling over the age of the earth." "I envy those fellows." "Why?" "Imagine anybody sufficiently detached from the problems of the day to wrangle over an unimportant question like the age of the earth when nearly everybody else is sitting up late at night trying to find out who's the matter with it!"—Birmingham Age Herald.

Government Newspaper.

It is not generally known that in case the recent railwaymen's dispute in Great Britain had developed into a general strike, and the public had been unable to obtain its customary newspapers, arrangements had been made for the production of a government daily.

It was to contain no editorial views whatever, but simply a record of what was happening at home and abroad.

Five million copies would have been circulated by a squadron of 150 aeroplanes. The government's idea was that the dangers of a general strike would be enormously enhanced if the general public did not know what was going on.

Community Singing.

"I see community singing is becoming a fad in many towns."

"What is it?"

"The merry villagers' idea boosted a notch, I take it."

"How?"

"Instead of dancing on the green, we assemble in community centers and sing our voices in jazz madrigals and syncopated glees."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

INCOME TAX AND PROFESSIONAL MEN

Figuring income tax is an easy job for the professional man. By education and training he is accustomed to drawing up statements. He has records of transactions involving income and keeps well in touch with his expenditures.

Just what he is allowed to deduct as professional expenses, in figuring his net income, is what he wants to know each year as the tax season arrives. Therefore, a review of the items in general is given in this article.

Returns for 1919.
The present income tax law requires that a return for 1919 be filed on or before March 15th, 1920, at the office of the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer lives. At least one quarter of the tax due must accompany the return.

An unmarried person must file a return if his or her net income was $1,000 or over; and a married person living with wife (or husband) must file if their joint net income was $2,000 or over. A widow or widower, or a married person living apart from wife (or husband) is classed as a single person.

The requirement to file a federal income tax return is not contingent upon there being a tax due. Form 1040A is used for net income of not more than $5,000; Form 1040 for net income over $5,000. Instructions and a working sheet accompany each return form.

Every firm of professional men operating as a corporation must make an annual return of net income on Form 1120. If operating as a partnership, a return on 1919 must be filed.

Gross Income.
An individual's gross income from a profession includes all compensation for his services.

Where services are paid for with something other than money, the fair market value of the thing taken in payment is the amount to be included as income. If the services were rendered at a stipulated price in the absence of evidence to the contrary such price will be presumed to be the fair value of the compensation received.

In the case of salary received, this should be shown separately, in Block B of the return. Many professional men and women—lawyers, medical examiners, teachers, accountants, etc.—are officers or employees of a state, or a political subdivision of a state, such as city, town or county. Their salaries or wages as such officers or employees is exempt from the Federal Income Tax. The exemption also applies to fees received by notaries' public commissioned by states, also the commissions of receivers appointed by state courts.

As to fees for services to clients, patients, etc., these should be included.

fore immigration inspection is had. • • • Wilson urges all neutrals to break with Germany; Berlin is reticent. • • • Ex-President Taft advocates conscription law.

German strike broken by army. • • • Senator Hitchcock advocates war cabinet. • • • American troops occupy Toul sector. • • • French court martial begins trial of Holo Pacha for treason.

ed in the gross income for the taxable year in which received, unless they are included when they accrue to him in accordance with an approved method of accounting followed by him.

Cash Basis.
A professional man may make his return on the basis of cash intake and actual expenditures for the year. It should be noted here that a taxpayer is deemed to have received income which has been credited to or set apart for him without restriction.

Accrual Basis.
A more exact and equitable method of figuring net income is on the "accrual basis." This means a computation on the basis of income earned and expenses incurred, whether paid or not, that actually pertains to the taxable year existing income earned and expenses incurred in previous or succeeding years. A professional man who keeps books of account should make returns by this method, if his accounting method is one generally employed, and shows a correct net income.

Deductions.
A professional man may claim as deduction the cost of supplies used by him in the practice of his profession, expenses paid in the operation and repair of an automobile used in making professional calls, dues to professional societies and subscriptions to professional journals, the rent paid for office rooms, the expense of fuel, light, water, telephone, etc., used in such offices, and the hire of office assistants. Amounts expended for books, furniture and professional instruments and equipment of a permanent character are not allowable deductions.

In the deductions from gross income, the law especially bars personal living or family expenses.

In the case of a professional man who has a regular place of business and who rents a residence, but incidentally receives there clients, patients or callers in connection with his professional work, no part of the rent at his home is deductible. If, however, he uses part of the house for his office, such portion of the rent as is properly attributable to such office is deductible.

Bad Debts.
The uncollectible bills of professional men, particularly doctors, dentists and lawyers, have a very important bearing on the net earnings for each year. The principal point in connection with such accounts made in income tax procedure is that there can be no allowance for such bad debts in returns figured on the "cash basis." That is a person who has been making his annual returns on the basis of cash received and actual cash expenditures each year has never shown as income his accounts with patients or clients, and is, therefore, not entitled to take them out of income.

On the other hand, a person who annually figured his gross income on the "accrual basis," that is, included his cash receipts and charges against patients and clients for all of his services performed during each year, is entitled to deduction for "bad debts" covering such accounts as are ascertained during the year were uncollectible and charged off, on, his books.

An account merely written down or a debt known to be worthless prior to the beginning of the taxable year is not a proper item for deduction.

When all Taxes.
A reasonable allowance for the wear and tear and obsolescence of such instruments and equipment, etc., is allowed. The proper allowance is that amount which should be set aside for the taxable year in accordance with a consistent plan by which the total of such amounts for the useful life of the property will suffice, with the salvage or scrap value at the end of such useful life, to provide in place of the property its cost or its value as of March 1, 1913, if acquired by the taxpayer before that date.

Obsolescence.
When through some new invention, or radical change in methods, or similar circumstances the usefulness in his profession of some or all of his instruments or other equipment is suddenly terminated, so that he discards such assets permanently from use, he may claim as a loss in that year the difference between the cost (reduced) by reasonable adjustment for wear and tear, which it has undergone and its junk or salvage value. If the apparatus was owned prior to March 1, 1913, its fair market value on that date should be considered instead of its cost; in figuring this loss. This deduction is allowed by law but the taxpayer must be able to substantiate any claims made on this basis.

KRIEPELUSH.

Krippebush, Feb. 3.—Lemuel Davis, the teacher in our district school, gave a very interesting talk to a number of the parents and the pupils of the school on Friday. Mr. Davis explained several features pertaining to the management of the school and announced that at some future date he hopes to have more present when he will give explanations more in detail in regard to several things concerning school matters.

The heavy snow caused the roof to collapse on a building belonging to Byron Van Demark.

Dr. Sherman of Stone Ridge is kept very busy caring for the sick in this vicinity.

Thomas Westbrook has passed regents and expects to enter High School at Kingston in the near future.

This place has experienced some very cold weather recently, with the mercury hovering around 10 degrees below zero nearly every morning.

John Davis has returned from a brief stay in Poughkeepsie.

The auction held at Melissam Van Demark's, deceased, was very largely attended last Monday.

Maria C. Westbrook who died recently in Krippebush was born in Tompkins county, N. Y., on April 20, 1825, and moved with her parents to Ulster county some time ago and resided in this county ever since, until her death which occurred on January 2, 1920. She married Thomas B. Westbrook of the town of Rochester, and settled on the farm where they always resided, until Mr. Westbrook's death, after which Mrs. Westbrook conducted it until recently, when on account of ill health she was compelled to retire. She was the last of her family, having lost her only son, the late Judge Fred D. Westbrook who died November 20, 1910. She is survived by one grandson, Thomas B. Westbrook and his mother who still reside on the above-named farm. Her funeral was held from the Krippebush M. E. Church on Monday, January 12th. Rev. H. L. Hurry officiating with interment in the family plot at Fairview cemetery.

UNION CENTER.

Union Center, Feb. 3.—The Union Center Ladies Aid Society will hold their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Shurtz on Thursday afternoon at 2:30. A large attendance is desired.

Concerning Epidemics

In Epidemics the germ fastens most readily on fruitful soil—a system that is in poor condition.

Stoppage of food waste, and the resulting decay, generates poisons which are absorbed by the blood, lowering its power of resistance to withstand the attack of outside germs such as influenza.

In plain terms, constipation encourages Epidemics.

If you keep your intestinal passage clear and functioning regularly to get rid of this waste, your system will be kept in good condition to successfully cope with disease germs to which you may be exposed.

That is what the Nujol Treatment does—without straining, and without drawing on the vitality of other parts of the body, as do other forms of treatment.

In plain terms, Nujol discourages constipation and its dangerous consequences.

Keep your body clean inside with the Nujol Treatment. It is the best possible Sickness Prevention.

Nujol is sold by all druggists in bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. Beware of products represented to be "the same as Nujol." You may suffer from substitutes. Address Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, New York, for valuable health booklet, free, "Thirty Feet of Danger."

NO LIMIT ON MEDICINAL WINE

Both Doctor and Druggist Who Handle Liquor Must Have Permits—Other Regulations Explained by Collector Irwin.

Collector of Internal Revenue Roscoe Irwin today issued a statement relative to the regulations governing the use and procurement of intoxicating liquors for medicinal purposes.

Both the physician who prescribes and the druggist who sells liquor for medicinal purposes must have a permit. Application for the permits must be made to Roscoe Irwin, Collector of Internal Revenue, Albany, N. Y.

Blank forms—1403—for prescribing liquor are being printed and distributed among federal prohibition directors, assistant directors and collectors of internal revenue. Where such blanks are not yet available, physicians holding permits may issue prescriptions on blanks regularly used by them.

Following is the bureau's statement:

"Any physician duly licensed to practice medicine and actively engaged in the practice of such profession may obtain a permit to prescribe intoxicating liquor and may then issue prescriptions for distilled spirits, wines or certain alcoholic medicinal preparations for medicinal purposes for persons upon whom he is in attendance in cases where he believes that the use of liquor as medicine is necessary. In no case may spirituous liquor be prescribed by one or more physicians in excess of one pint for the same person within any period of ten days.

"No specific limitation is placed upon the quantity of wines which may be prescribed for medicinal purposes. The regulations merely require that no prescription be issued for a greater quantity than is necessary for use as medicine. Physicians who do not hold permits to prescribe intoxicating liquor are under no circumstances permitted to issue prescriptions.

"All prescriptions for intoxicating liquor are required to be written on prescription blanks prescribed by the regulations (form 1403), and to be provided by the bureau, except that in emergency cases physicians may use their regular prescription blanks provided the same contain the date of issue, amount prescribed, to whom issued, and directions for use, stating the amount and frequency of dose. Pending an adequate supply of the official blanks being printed and distributed to directors and acting directors, physicians holding permits have been authorized to issue prescriptions on blanks regularly used by them.

"Prescriptions for intoxicating liquor may be filled only by registered pharmacists who hold permits authorizing them to do so, or who are employed by retail druggists holding such permits. Pharmacists and druggists holding such permits will procure their supplies of intoxicating liquor from manufacturers or other persons holding permits authorizing them to sell liquor.

"Persons to whom prescriptions for intoxicating liquor are issued by physicians may procure the liquor prescribed through pharmacists or druggists holding permits without obtaining a permit.

"Physicians may also obtain permits entitling them to procure not more than six quarts of distilled spirits, wines or certain alcoholic preparations during any calendar year for administration to their patients in emergency cases where delay in procuring liquor on a prescription through a pharmacist might have serious consequence to the patient.

"Provision is also made in the regulations for issuing permits to hospitals and sanitariums to enable them to procure intoxicating liquor for medicinal purposes to patients at such institutions and also for issuing permits to manufacturers, industrial and other establishments maintaining first aid stations, authorizing them to procure such liquor for administration to their employees for medicinal purposes in emergency cases.

"All applications for permits referred to should be made on form 1404 in triplicate and forwarded to the local collector of internal revenue.

"Section 27 of the National Prohibition Act provides that any intoxicating liquor seized under section 25 or section 26 thereof, and subject to be destroyed, may upon application of the United States attorney, be ordered by the court to be delivered to any person holding a permit to purchase liquor. All liquor seized under such sections of law may be delivered through regular channels for medicinal purposes under the procedure above described.

"Any intoxicating liquor seized under federal law prior to October 28, 1919, if not claimed within sixty days from such date, may likewise, upon order of the court, be delivered to any person holding a permit to purchase and be delivered to medicinal or other non-beverage purposes.

"Complete lists of over-licensed carriers for liquor for medicinal purposes, which place dispensers thereof in the class of peddlers, will be investigated.

Adopt Alderman Martin's Resolution Disapproving Action of Trolley Road Directors (Claims And Other Matters)

Alderman Martin of the Twelfth Ward introduced a resolution asking the common council to go on record as disapproving and objecting to the action taken by the directors of the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company in its attempt to abandon the Washington Avenue line of the Colonial Division of the road, which was approved by unanimous vote Tuesday at the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the company held at the city hall in the absence of President R. C. Dittus, who is ill. Alderman Schuch of the Third Ward was temporary chairman of the meeting. The properties should be sold and put back on the assessment roll and the committee recommended that upon the payment of bids the mayor convey these properties by quit claim deeds to the several purchasers. As to the property of Irene Whitaker the committee recommended that the city treasurer write the trustees or heirs of the estate calling their attention to the omission. The committee further recommended that upon payment to the city of the taxes and costs the mayor quit claim to the owner of the property at 63 East Pierpont street.

ROOTED DISLIKE FOR JAPS

Chinese Look With Suspicious Eyes on Actions of the Subjects of the Mikado.

It was in the quaint, terraced city of Foochow, China. The bearers of my sedan chair pointed out to me a fine gray building against the hillside and exhausted their collective store of English trying to tell me what it was.

"Japanese hospital," said one, with a knowing air, as if he could say more if he would.

"To cure sick Japanese?" I asked, wondering whether there was a sufficiently large colony to support an institution of such size.

It took some time for this question to percolate through their heads. When at last it did so, there was more excitement in their answers than mere statements of facts would warrant.

"Japanese make Chinese well, Japanese say Chinese man—him very sick; must make well!"

There was immediate sarcasm in their manner. At last one of them found the English he was after, and came out with it: "Japanese no love Chinese man," he said. "Then why make Chinese man well?"

It seems that Japanese were beginning to realize that American philanthropy, represented by the missions and by the Rockefeller foundation, was creating good-will for the United States. So they, too, decided to become philanthropists, and some fine Japanese hospitals for the Chinese were the result. The Chinese, however, still distrust the move. They cannot be sure that it has the genuine unselfishness of Christian propaganda. They tell tales about machine guns concealed in the hospitals and soldiers who reconnoiter by night. I never heard these rumors substantiated but I did meet a seemingly benevolent young surgeon and a Japanese nurse with the sweetest face in the world.—Marjorie Brewster in World Outlook.

the contour of her nose. Over no gold plates was an old Friesland lace bonnet, ivory colored from age, a treasure of her maiden days. The little frilled lace visor in front of the bonnet was a marvel of the lace maker's art, and a 6-inch frill made of some stiffened material like mullins not fanned out behind her neck and over her shoulders like a ruffe of Sir Walter Raleigh. In a quiet observance of the customs of the land of her adoption Mrs. Vos had ornamented her artistic headgear with a fragrant black high-cocked bonnet. The old world touched the new on Mrs. Vos' head, with the artistic odds greatly against the new.

Search for Finer Wool.

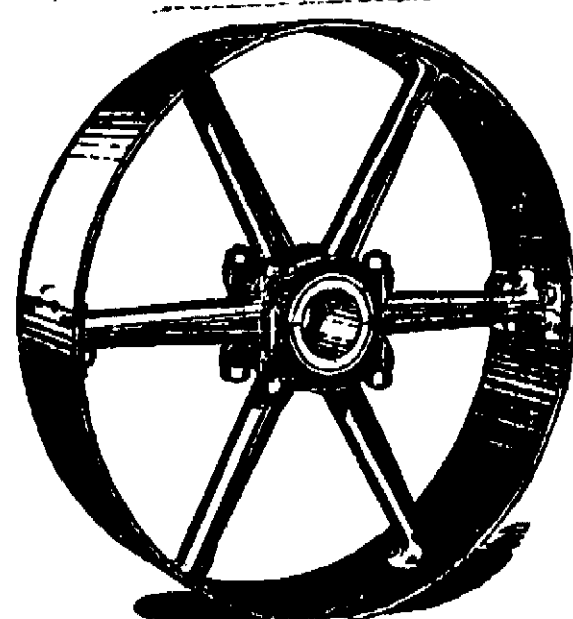

The possibility of developing new sources of fine wool has been suggested. Referring in Nature to a new search for the golden fleece, Prof. J. C. Evans of the University of Edinburgh states that the first domesticated sheep in Europe were undoubtedly introduced about 7000 B. C., and that nearly pure descendants of this ancient Neolithic breed—a vital, Oris vigan—still survive on the small uninhabited island of Sany (Sheep Island), near St. Kitts. Crosses between Sany and Southdown sheep yield excellent merino, with wool of remarkable strength and quality; and new late discoveries indicate that crosses of the wist with other wild types may yield still finer and more beautiful wool. These discoveries include that of wool forming the inner coat of several of the wild sheep of Asia. This wool is longer than that of the Sany sheep, and decidedly finer than and quite as white as the merino. Australian merino, regarded as the finest and whitest wool in the world.

Causes of Thunderstorms.

Two kinds of thunderstorms are generally recognized—one due to heat and usually local, and the other accompanying the squalls forming in the southern sectors of low pressure areas. A third type, "thunder of cold," has been lately added by a French meteorologist. It occurs as cold air travels southward into a region of high temperature and moisture upper winds. The clouds forming the northern flank of the cold wave develop thunderstorms, which are carried southward by the upper south wind, this traveling backward through the zone of cold air.

Shy Don Road Broken.

Charles Dickens has been ruled out by a class of the juvenile literary critics as a decadent back number, but the statement by his British publishers that during the past three years the sale of his books has been almost doubled seems to refute that idea. Some of Dickens' works sell more than 50,000 every year, and he has been dead thirty-eight years. His sales during the last ten years have been larger, it is supposed, than those of any other English writer.

By GEORGE BROADHURST

Scenario by Elmer Harris Directed by Donald Crisp

THEY couldn't fool Smith! So air-ee! He knew a thing or two. He could survive an elopement, a train wreck, a hotel fire and an earthquake—which he did—all for her. He could even hold his own with the lady who called him son-in-law. But there are some things in this world that a regular man cannot and will not endure.

What? That's "Why Smith Left Home" Bryant Washburn at his funniest and best in this smashing picturization of George Broadhurst's famous stage hit. You'll be sorry if you don't come.

DID LARRY KOPF HAVE HUNCH THAT REDS WERE ABOUT DUE TO CAPTURE PENNANT?

Brooklyn fans were mighty sore last spring when Larry Kopf refused to report to them and insisted on remaining with Cincinnati. Many thought Larry was foolish. The Dodgers had a fairly strong team and it looked as though a classy shortstop would put them in the pennant fight. But Larry must have had the hunch that the Reds were due to cop.

Larry's real name is William Lawrence Kopf. Probably his folks, back in Bristol, Conn., where he was born in 1898, called him Willie.

Kopf broke into baseball with the Fordham college team. Cleveland grabbed him off in 1912 and farmed him out to Toledo. Later he was turned over to the Athletics, playing second base for them in 1914 and 1915. Baltimore obtained his services the next year. The Red scouts reported him nearly ripe to star in 1917 and Garry gobbled him up. In 1918 he played a while with Fore River and then entered the army.

Sturdy Little Fighter Pleases Boxing Fans by Defeating Jimmy Wilde, English Fly.

Sharkey is known as a sturdy, aggressive fighter and is quite popular around Milwaukee. The manner in which he held the famous English glove artist in check gives his fighting stock a big boost.

After the fight Sharkey praised Wilde by saying that he is one of the greatest men for avoiding blows that he had ever seen or met. "We seem to get away from a blow without moving. The fact is," says Sharkey, "he just moves his head or body enough to let the blow pass. Half the time when you do hit him it is only a glancing blow."

WAS BAD OMEN

Presence of Thirteenth Ship Now Mystery of the Sea.

The Appearance Under the Circumstances Always Unaccountable and Death Twice Claimed the First Man to Sight It.

The "thirteenth ship" remains among the mysteries of the war. I have never heard any one try to explain it, says "Jackie" in the London Daily Mail. Even the most matter-of-fact people appear content to state facts as they are known and leave it at that.

When the Norwegian convoy that was attacked by an enemy raiding force in November, 1917, left port it consisted of 12 ships. Later a thirteenth ship was added—or added itself. No one actually saw it join, no one in the end saw it leave.

Just before the fight Lieutenant Commander Fox of the Mary Rose, counted and reported 13 ships where there should have been only 12. Thirteen there were at the beginning of the fray and only 12 when it ended. The stranger vanished as mysteriously as she appeared. At least that is what eyewitnesses say.

It will be within every one's recollection that the raid resulted disastrously for us. Among our losses was the Mary Rose, the vessel that first sighted and reported the thirteenth ship.

Can any one suggest an explanation of the occurrence? I have no theory to put forward. But here is a somewhat similar war happening within my own personal experience:

One evening in the bay of Biscay four of us were standing on the bridge of a small warship watching the other vessels of the squadron.

"Look, there are three trawlers over there now," said one of my companions pointing to starboard.

"Impossible," declared the skipper through the chart house window. "All ships are in station and there are only two there. You can't see straight!"

"But there are three!" persisted the first speaker, and two others corroborated him, the signman adding "I can't make her out, sir; she doesn't seem to belong to our crowd."

Out from the chart house came the skipper and joined the little group who were watching the stranger. Whoever she might be or wherever she might have come from, the one undoubted fact was that there she lay, rolling steadily along between the "double-ender" and the tubby old trawler that had been our familiar companions during many days.

While we were speculating as to the stranger's identity our "snottier" gasped out an astonished "Why she's gone!"

And gone she had! We looked carefully to see whether she had become hidden behind one of her companions. But no; the stranger disappeared as easily as she came, and we could not understand how. Most of us attached little importance to the occurrence. The skipper took a different view of it.

"It wasn't a ship at all," he declared gravely, "but a warning that before the year is out the sea will claim one of us."

We laughed at his prophecy. Yet it is a fact that before the year was out the sea had claimed the man who first sighted the mysterious ship! Is there any explanation?

"Sergeant-Majorism."

The war has been responsible for many new words, and the term "sergeant-majorism" conveys a meaning which is well understood not only in the British army but by the average civilian, though not always by this title. A good sergeant major is invaluable in the army, and it is the ambition of nearly every soldier to rise some day to the dizzy heights of a warrant officer. The sergeant major has a certain amount of power, and sometimes tries to make things uncomfortable for those who do not "bow down" before him. Unfortunately, the type of person who fancies his petty power in one's face is not confined to the army, and because there are today few people who have not met with this type, the term "sergeant-majorism" has, not unnaturally, come into more or less general usage.—Christian Science Monitor.

"Fanny! How can that be?" said the second lady. "By the way, love, your beautiful daughter's marriage to Mr. Gomez has been postponed to when?"

"The Gomez is up and about," said the first lady answered. The dear old thing, you know, has had his second stroke."

TWO SAUGERTIES RIVAL BUS LINE OWNERS HEARD

Peter Kleis, Whose Application for Bus Permit Was Recently Granted by Aldermen, Objects to Edward Klemm's Petition, but Objection Had No Weight—The Motor Bus Question.

There was a lively session at the public hearing on motor bus applications which was held Tuesday evening at the close of the regular business session of the common council when the two rival Saugerties bus line owners appeared before the council, and were heard. Peter Kleis, whose petition was granted recently, was opposed to the council granting the petition of Edward Klemm, his rival in business, which came up for action that evening. At the close of the hearing the council by a vote of 9 to 2 granted Mr. Klemm's petition.

The attitude taken by the majority of the aldermen in the matter of bus lines was that the more bus lines running into Kingston the merrier, and while they had the power to limit the buses to using certain city streets they had not the power to confine the bus owner to any one particular route after he had left the city limits. The council also "passed the buck" to the public service commission to decide if there was need of two bus lines between Saugerties and Kingston.

Mr. Klemm was represented by Newton H. Fessenden, while Peter Kleis was represented by F. E. W. Darrow, at the hearing.

From what was stated by Attorney Fessenden and his client, Mr. Kleis started in the bus business between Saugerties and Kingston in May of 1918, and had been operating his line for a year and was making a go of it when Mr. Klemm started in business.

Develops Business.

Mr. Darrow said that Van Buskirk and Hiltbrand had each operated a bus line, but evidently without making a success of it financially for they had quit. When Mr. Kleis started operating in 1918 he found the business undeveloped, and when he had built it up until it began to pay then Klemm started his opposition line.

"Should Protect Kleis."

Mr. Darrow believed that as Mr. Kleis had started in business a year ahead of his rival and had applied for permission to use certain streets in entering the city which had been granted by the council he should be protected by the council. Mr. Darrow said his client had purchased another bus and was able to care for all the traffic between Saugerties and Kingston without trouble.

Mr. Darrow filed, without reading, a copy of The Freeman of July 18. This issue contained an account of an accident in which the Klemm bus figured on Foxhall avenue. Mr. Darrow said he had nothing against Klemm as they were good friends, and he did not want to interfere with Klemm's business, but he did not want anything done to injure Mr. Kleis's prior right.

"Kleis Don't Want Opposition."

Attorney Fessenden said that the only reason Kleis got permission first was because Klemm did not file his petition at the same time. He said he was sorry that Kleis had taken the attitude that he did not want opposition. There was enough business for two as was shown by the fact that both lines were operating. He said that Klemm had invested considerable money and that his request should be granted.

When Klemm Got Bus.

Mr. Klemm said that when Kleis started the route it was with the understanding that he (Klemm) was to put on a bus if the route paid. He was unable to get a bus until 1919 on account of the war and as soon as he got his bus he started operating. "When I put my bus on Kleis was sore," remarked Mr. Klemm.

How About Flatbush.

Alderman Warren called attention to the fact that at the present time both Saugerties bus lines used the Saugerties road, and there was another route, that by way of Flatbush which should be covered. He favored one of the lines using the Flatbush route.

It developed, however, that the Flatbush route does not pay, and that was the reason neither bus line went that way.

"Need A Schedule."

Alderman Macholdt said that probably neither Klemm nor Kleis recognized him as he had not got his uniform on, but that he was a member on the Colonial Division and had a chance to size up the bus situation, and the fact was that neither line ran on schedule time. They should be made to keep regular schedules was the alderman's contention.

What Schick Knew.

Presiding Officer Schick said that he knew many school teachers who used Klemm's bus in getting to Saugerties and that the council should take that into consideration.

TEN CENTS

Will buy five sheets of music this week at O'REILLY'S, 530 Broadway.

The question of protecting Kleis's prior right to thought was up to the public service commission and not the common council.

"One Out To The Other."

"Competition is the life of trade," remarked Alderman Martin. "and from what has been said here tonight it is evident that one is out to do the other. We should not take it upon our shoulders to say one could take a route that does not pay. We should leave Albany decide." The alderman then moved that the petition of Mr. Klemm to operate over certain city streets be granted.

Does Not Settle Flatbush Question. "Adopting this resolution does not settle the Flatbush question," said Alderman Warren. "If two bus lines run to Saugerties a third could not operate the Flatbush line financially. I am a merchant and the merchants of the city are interested in getting as many people to Kingston as possible from outside territory."

What House Believed.

Alderman Roosa said that the council in voting should take into consideration the fact that Kleis had an established business before Klemm started, and that Kleis should be protected.

Wanted It On Record.

Attorney Darrow said that he would like it on the record that the council was not passing upon the merits of the two bus lines, but simply giving Klemm permission to operate over certain streets. The matter would be later threshed out before the public service commission as to whether two bus lines were needed between Saugerties and Kingston.

How They Voted.

Alderman Martin called for a vote on his resolution granting Klemm's petition and the vote stood: In favor, Lemister, Leverich, Parish, Kirchner, Kullmann, Macholdt, Higgins, Myers, Martin, Agalst, Warren, Roosa and Purvis.

The Rosendale Bus Lines.

Samuel Hermance, who operates a bus line between Rosendale and Kingston; Henry Myers, who operated between Tillson and Kingston; and John L. Sullivan, who operated between Lawrenceville and Kingston, all three passing through Rosendale, had petitions before the council.

Mr. Hermance was not represented, and it was stated his attorney was ill. A. J. Cook appeared for Mr. Myers, who is an honorably discharged soldier. Mr. Cook said that his client worked with Mr. Proper, who ran the original bus line between Rosendale and Kingston, but when the war broke out he was called to the colors. Upon his return he wanted to resume business. Mr. Hermance started in business while Myers was in the service.

John T. Cahill appeared for Mr. Sullivan and urged that his petition be granted.

Alderman Warren moved that the three petitions be granted, all three Rosendale lines to stop at the Kingston Hotel terminal and the terminal on central Broadway. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

The council then adjourned.

SEATS FREE FOR WELSH SINGERS

The religious societies of the city of every creed and denomination extend an invitation to all the people of the city to hear the Welsh Singers in the High School Auditorium Friday evening at 8 o'clock. This entertainment and lecture is the first of the latter-Church lecture course. This celebrated company is costing the churches $117 but no admission fee will be charged. Seats are free to all.

This company is the survivors of the "Welsh Singers," who booked passage on the Lusitania on its fatal trip. One of the company will give a thirty minute lecture of the disaster, as he witnessed and experienced it. The music will be of the highest quality and will be intended to awaken patriotic devotion and fix indelibly in the mind the one great historical event which made our country a participant in the world war.

CORDYS ROSE FAIR

Off to Favorable Start—Closes Friday Evening.

The annual fair and bazaar of Cordys Rose Company was opened Tuesday evening at the company's rooms on Delaware avenue under the most favorable conditions.

Rev. F. W. Moot, chaplain of the company, introduced the mayor, who started the ball rolling in a speech which was full of good cheer and praise for the volunteer firemen. The rooms are fairly decorated and several pretty booths well stocked with fancy and useful articles and presided over by pretty women, are very attractive. Ice cream, candy, cake and orangeade are also for sale. Last but not least is the most wonderful fish pond and fortune bag for children and adults alike. The first floor has been cleared for dancing and excellent music is furnished by Allen's orchestra. The fair will continue all week, closing Friday evening.

Tonight F. Van Buren will perform his many card tricks, which always keep his audience guessing.

Ex-Servicemen's Banquet.

Dr. George H. Clarke of 14 Down street has been selected by the United States public health service for the country to be the dental examiner to render dental treatment to patients of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

Shed's Changes of Sign.

It appears that smokes change their opinion several times a year before reaching the adult state. The main reason why smokers cast their votes is to provide for increased growth. The idea of a smoke does not grow with the growth of the body, as to the case with men blinded creatures, who when it begins to get too tight it is discarded.

MINSTREL SHOW WILL BE HUMMER

The program for the Legion minstrels to be given in the Kingston Opera House on Monday and Tuesday, is rapidly rounding into shape under the skillful direction of Harry Malenbender and Tommy Dolan, and one of the best amateur shows of its kind is promised those who attend. Tickets are going fast, but there are a number still on hand. Both nights should be sold out, and the S. R. O. sign hung in the opera lobby.

Bill Radel, who is to warble Freckles, with Miss Marie McCarthy as Freckles, promises to be one of the song hits of the evening, but there are others as a glance at the program will show. The soloists will also include Tommy Dolan, C. F. Rives, Sam Affron, Pete McCutcheon, Tommy Murray, Bill Newkirk, James R. Palen, Peter A. Jordan, Lester Elmendorf and Bernie Roach. They will fill the first part of the show with mirth and melody.

One of the star acts of the second part will be the famous Dixie Trio, who played at the A. E. F. camps over there. There will also be a number of other good bits on the program.

Tickets may now be had at Ralph Crouthamel's store, at the store of R. C. Dittus, the office of Brincker & Carey, or of any Legion member.

SENATOR LUSK COMING FEB. 13

Senator Clayton R. Lusk of Cortland, chairman of the Lusk Investigating Committee (investigating sedition practices) will lecture in the armory in this city on the evening of Friday, February 13th, on the vitally interesting subject, "Americanism versus Radicalism," and the proceeds of the lecture will go toward raising the $300 pledged by the Federation of Women's Clubs for the equipping of the sun parlor of the Home for the Aged.

So well known is the work of the Lusk Committee and of Senator Lusk himself, that a record-breaking audience is assured, especially as several other organizations have been striving to get Senator Lusk to come to Kingston. When the senator learned that the women of the Federation wished to raise the money to make good their pledge, he at once consented to come, and that without any expense to the Federation, only stipulating that the tickets should be moderately priced, which they are at fifty cents.

All who have heard Senator Lusk speak, either in his addresses throughout the state or at the State Federation meeting in Elmira in the fall are most enthusiastic over him as a public speaker as well as over his subject which he handles fearlessly and most capably.

The seats will be so arranged in the armory that all who attend will be easily able to hear Senator Lusk. Tickets will be on sale in a day or two and can then be procured from the women of the Federation. What- ever remains over and above the three hundred dollars will be donated to the Tuberculosis Hospital.
